

INVESTOURS

Are you looking for a meaningful and fun internship this summer? International non-profit Investours is offering internships in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico this summer. You will learn about microfinance and its remarkable potential to alleviate poverty, while you gain invaluable professional experience in international development work. You will also enjoy one of the world's most beautiful beach destinations!

About Investours: Investours is a start-up non-profit organization that pioneered the concept of “microfinance tourism.” We host tours in developing countries that allow travelers to meet local artisans and learn about their craft. We then use the tour fees to support those artisans with interest-free microloans. Learn more about Investours at www.investours.org.

On the program, you will:

- Meet local artisans to learn about their livelihood and help promote their businesses
- Gain valuable professional experience in marketing, operations, and business strategy
- Enjoy group dinners and excursions in the beautiful Puerto Vallarta!

Qualifications: Rising college sophomores, juniors, and seniors in good academic standing with interest in International Relations, Economics, or Entrepreneurial Leadership. Proficiency in Spanish is a plus.

Dates: Internships last 4 to 5 weeks. Start date is flexible, ending date is June 28th.

Cost: $750 (includes housing and several meals, does not include flight)

How to apply: Send resume and a paragraph describing your interest in Investours to corrina@investours.org. Applications received on a rolling basis through March 28th. Space is limited.
